

IMPERIUS DOMINATUS

PSYCHIC POWER CARDS

Psychic Power Rules

- Psychic powers represent an attack made in addition to conventional weapons.
- IF Psychic powers request a Hit roll in their description, then army hit roll value is used.
- Psychic powers occur as per the orders the psychic element or formation is on in the combat phase.
- Penalties to hit apply to psychic powers that simulate direct fire attacks.
- Psychic powers are divided into disciplines. A psyker may only use powers from one discipline unless an ability or legion trait permits mixing disciplines.
- For every level of psykers ability the element has, the player may draw one power from a discipline's deck to assign to that psychic element. For example, if an element has psykers 2, it may draw 2 cards from one discipline deck.
- In the case of an entire formation composed of psykers, the amount of cards drawn is equal to the average psykers' level (the most common value in the formation) plus 1 additional card per every 3 elements beyond the first (for level 1 psykers), 1 additional card per every 2 elements beyond the first (for level 2 psykers) and 1 additional cards for every stand beyond the first (for level 3).
- Cards assigned to one psyker are not transferable to another.
- Cards should be drawn from the deck randomly (players by mutual agreement may just pick the powers they desire)
- Each discipline has a primaris power which the psykers get "for free".
- Only one psychic power per turn, per psyker can be used. Some special characters may cast more than one power per turn.
- All disciplines except Daemonology can be used by all forces. Santic powers can only be used by loyalist forces and Malefic can only be used by traitor forces. Formations or legions that can use such powers are designated in their descriptions.
- Psychic powers can only be averted by elements with the adamantium will [AW] ability.
- Formations that take casualties from psychic powers must make an immediate morale test.
- Each power has an associated power level to it. From 1 to 3 level in power.
- Each psychic power is activated successfully on a roll of 5+.
- All powers have a range of 25cms (or self if it affects only the psykers stand).
- All powers last one game turn unless the effect is instantaneous.
- If the power is successfully cast, then its described effect is carried out.
- If the roll fails and it is equal to or less than the power's power level number, then the psykers must roll on the Perils of the Warp table.
- A failure that is not equal to or below the power's level results in failure but no further effect.
- A psychic power whose target is a formation has its power level increased by 1 if targeting a "grand" formation. Level 3 psychic powers are increased to "4" for this purpose, meaning they provoke a Perils of the Warp test on a failure.

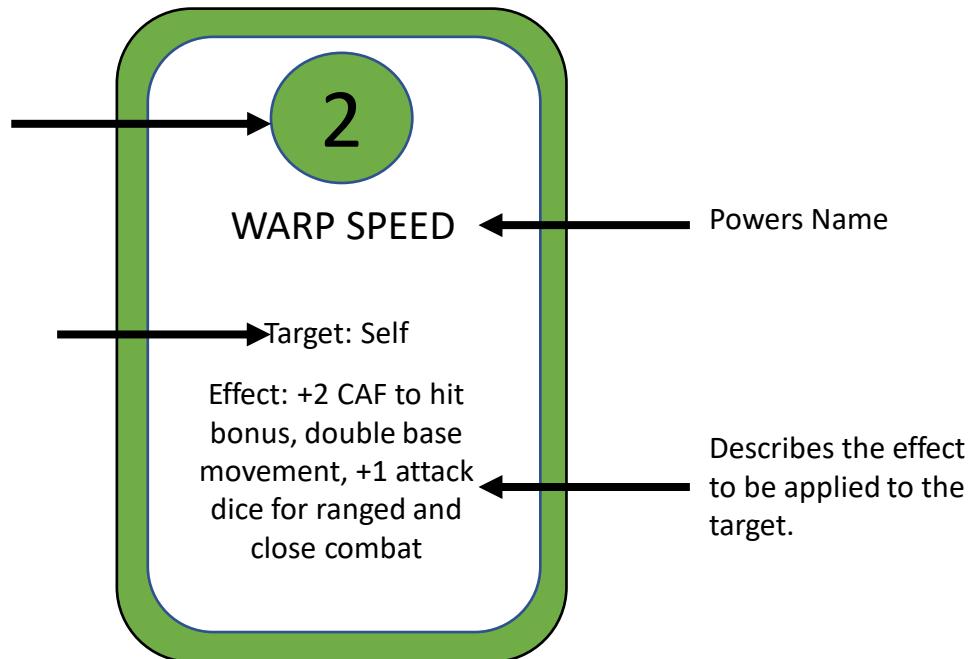

Perils of the Warp
Roll	Effect
1	Dragged into the warp. The librarian is eliminated and removed from play
2-5	Psychic backlash. Librarian makes an armor save with a modifier equal to the powers level
6-9	Psychic drain. Psyker loses one power for the remainder of the game
10	Warp Surge! Psyker gains invulnerable save 6+ for the remainder of the battle

How to read a Psychic Card

All psychic powers are successfully activated on a roll of 5+ on 1d10.

Power Level: If the die roll is equal or lower than this value it triggers a Perils of the Warp Test.

What does the power affect: Self (the casting psyker), an element (model) or a formation.

Generally each psyker may only use one psychic discipline and the number of cards is equal to the psykers level.

See core rules for additional descriptions.
